

Passive and Conditional sentences

The passive:

Active:

Many students use computers

Passive:

Computers are used by many students

Present simple passive:

I am invited

He/She/It is invited

You/we/they are invited

Past simple passive:

I/He/She/It was invited

You/we/they were invited

Present perfect simple passive:

I 've been invited

He/She/It 's been invited

You/we/they 've been invited

Conditional sentences:

First conditional:

If + present simple + will + infinitive

If you see the film, you will understand.

-Possible or likely situations:

If it's cold tomorrow, i won't walk to college.

If she doesn't go to the party, she won't see David.

-Promises and warnings:

If you forget her birthday, she will be upset.

Second conditional:

If + past simple + would + infinitive

If you saw the film, you'd understand.

If I had more money, I'd buy it for you.

If you had a car, you'd learn to drive.

If I were you, I'd put some suntan lotion on.

If he lived in Germany, He'd learn German

Third conditional:

If + past perfect + would have + past particle

If you had seen the film, you would have understood.

If I had known you were coming, I would have made some dinner.